Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of SARANTIS BULGARIA EOOD, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 December 2020 and the statement of profit and loss and other comprehensive incomes, statement of changes in equity and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company as at 31 December 2020, and of its financial performance and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs) as adopted by the European Union (EU).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (ISAs). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the the International Ethical Code of Professional Accountants (including International Standards of Independence) of the International Accounting Standards Board (IESBA Code) together with the ethical requirements of the Independent Financial Audit Act (IFAA), that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Bulgaria, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with the requirements of the IFAA and the IESBA Code. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Emphasis of matter

We draw attention to the Explanatory Note No. 4.24 Impact of COVID-19 to the separate financial statements, which discloses a material non-adjusting event related to the spread of the coronavirus pandemic (COVID-19). The disruption of normal economic activity in the Republic of Bulgaria as a result of COVID-19 may adversely affect the operations of the Sarantis Bulgaria EOOD, in particular commercial activities. At present, the company is not able to determine whether additional impairment is required beyond the standard that is working with. Due to the unpredictable dynamics of COVID-19, it is virtually impossible at this stage to make a reliable assessment and measurement of the potential impact of the pandemic of which is disclosed in Explanatory Note No 24.

Other information, different from the financial statements and the Auditor's report thereon

Management is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the activity report, prepared by the Management in accordance with Chapter seven from the Accountancy Act, but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon, unless explicitly noted in our report and to the extent stated.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Additional information required to report on according to the Accountancy Act

In addition to our responsibilities and the reporting under ISAs with regard to the activity report we have performed also the procedures supplemented to the ones required by ISAs in accordance with the Instructions of the Professional Organization of the Certified Public Accountants and Registered Auditors - Institute of the Certified Public Accountants in Bulgaria (ICPA). These procedures concern verification of presence, as well as verification of the form and contents of this other information with the purpose of helping us form a standpoint whether the other information includes the disclosures and reporting envisaged in Chapter seven of the Accountancy Act applicable in Bulgaria.

Opinion in connection with art. 37, para 6 of the Accountancy Act

Based on the procedures performed our standpoint is that:

- a) The information included in the activity report for the financial year the financial statements have been prepared for corresponds with the financial statements.
- b) The activity report is prepared in accordance with the requirements of Chapter seven of the Accountancy Act.

Responsibilities of Management for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with IFRSs, adopted by EU and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations to the auditor, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the management, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

Subsequent expenditure relating to specific fixed asset is capitalized in the asset only when they respond to the criteria for acknowledgement, as pointed at IAS 16. All other subsequent expenditure is as an expense recognized in the period in which are they incurred.

Depreciation of non-current tangible assets is calculated in the Statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income in line "Depreciation/amortisation expenses", using the straight-line method over the expected useful lives of assets as follows:

- machinery and equipment up to 5 years;
- Computers 3-5 years;
- Furniture 3-6,7 years;
- Other Buildings and equipment up to 25 years.

The company implements a policy of capitalization of assets in the event that their cost is equal to or exceeds the materiality level of 700 BGN.

At the end of each reporting period the company tests the assets for impairment comparing whether their balance sheet value differs substantially from their fair value, taking into consideration their moral and physical wear.

Subsequent expenditure relating to specific intangible asset is capitalized in the asset only when they respond to the criteria for acknowledgement, as pointed at IAS 38. All other subsequent expenditure is as an expense recognized in the period in which are they incurred.

Depreciation of intangible assets is calculated in the Statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income in line "Depreciation/amortisation expenses", using the straight-line method over the expected useful lives of assets.

The company implements a policy of capitalization of assets in the event that their cost is equal to or exceeds the materiality level of 700 BGN.

The company accepts that the remaining value of an intangible asset is insignificant if the remaining value is up to 10% from the initial value of acquiring.

At the end of each reporting period the company tests the assets for impairment comparing whether their balance sheet value differs substantially from their fair value, taking into consideration their moral and physical wear.

3.4 Leasing

Leasing contracts under which the company assumes substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance leases. Upon the initial recognition leased asset are reported on the lower among the fair value and the present value of the minimum lease payments. After initial recognition, the asset is depreciated according to the applicable accounting policy for that asset.

All other leases are classified as operating leases (according IFRS 16).

For each contract concluded on or after January 1, 2019, the Company decides whether the contract is or includes leasing. Leasing is defined as a contract or part of a contract that delegates the right to control the use of an identified asset (underlying asset) for a given period in exchange for consideration. To this reason, three basic aspects are analyzed:

- whether the contract relates to an identified asset that is either clearly specified in the contract or implicitly when the asset is made available to the Group,
- whether the Company has the right to obtain substantially all economic benefits from the use of the asset over the entire useful life to the extent specified in the contract,

- whether the Company has the right to direct the use of the identified asset over the entire useful life.

At the commencement date, the Company recognizes an asset under the right of use and a liability under the lease. The right of use is initially measured at the purchase price consisting of the initial value of the lease liability, initial direct costs, an estimate of the costs expected in connection with the dismantling of the underlying asset and the lease payments paid on or before the start date, less leasing incentives.

The Company depreciates use rights on a straight-line basis from the start date until the end of the useful life period or the end of the lease term, depending on which of these dates is earlier. If there are indications, the rights to use are tested for impairment in accordance with IAS 36.

As at the commencement date, the Company measures the lease liability at the present value of the remaining lease payments using the interest rate of the lease, if it can be easily determined. Otherwise, the lessee's marginal interest rate applies.

Lease payments included in the value of the lease liability consist of fixed lease payments, variable lease payments dependent on the index or rate, amounts expected to be paid as a guaranteed residual value and payments for call options if they are reasonably certain.

In subsequent periods, the lease liability is reduced by repayments made and increased by accrued interest. The valuation of the lease liability is updated to reflect changes in the contract and the reassessment of the lease term, exercise of the call option, guaranteed residual value or lease payments dependent on the index or rate. In principle, the revaluation of the liability is recognized as an adjustment to the asset due to the right of use. The company uses practical standards approved for short-term leasing and leasing in which the underlying asset is of low value. For such contracts, lease payments are recognized in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Subsequent costs associated with maintenance and insurance of the leased assets, are reflected in the comprehensive income statement when they originate.

3.5 Inventories

Tangible commodity inventories are stated at the lower among cost and net realizable value and include expenditure incurred in acquiring, processing and other direct costs, associated with delivery to their present location and condition.

At the end of each reporting period, inventories are valued at lower of the cost and net realizable value. The amount of the devaluation of the inventories to their net realizable value as an expense is recognized in the period of devaluation.

Net realizable value represents the estimated selling price for inventories less estimated costs for selling. If inventories have already been written down to net realizable value in a subsequent period and if it appears that conditions leading to its devaluation are no longer present, it is a new net realizable value that is adopted. Amount of the refund may be only to the extent of the balance amount before inventories depreciation.

Inventories at their consumption are written out using the average - weighted value.

On sale of inventories, their balance amount is recognized as an expense in the period in which the related revenue is recognized in line "cost of goods and other assets sold" in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income.

The Company derecognises a financial asset when, and only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire.

On derecognition of a financial asset the difference between the carrying amount (measured at the date of derecognition) and the consideration received (including any new asset obtained less any new liability assumed) shall be recognised in profit or loss.

4.24. Impact of Covid-19:

After almost a year since the beginning of the crisis caused by Covid-19, the epidemic in Bulgaria already has clarity about the consequences on the economy and our company in particular. Based on the information we currently have, we cannot say that additional impairment is needed beyond the standard we are working with.

Our cash levels are the same as at the beginning of the crisis around mid-March 2020, which is an indication that we have no problems with inflows and outflows.

The temporary closing of some stores in the spring had a negative impact mainly in April on sales of selective goods. The company's total turnover suffered partly in March, severely in April and again partly in May. In general, in the other months we moved a little above and around last year. The secondary closing also affected our sales, but in the end we achieved a revised profit, which gives us confidence that there are no obstacles to the operation of the company despite the current economic crisis.

4.25. Events after the financial statement date:

After the date on which the financial statements were authorized for issue, there were no corrective events to be disclosed and any corrective been reflected in the financial statements.
